

MAINSTREAM MANAGEMENT

Creating Value, Driving Results

MainStream Management is a privately held professional services firm that specializes in management services, performance improvement, transaction advisory, program & risk management, strategy alignment & deployment, and information technology advisory for middle market companies and public sector organizations.

MainStream's PERFORMANCE NOW®

For over a decade MainStream Management has built a reputation for assisting middle market companies and public sector organizations facing performance issues. A classic approach utilized by many consulting firms who work with struggling organizations is to apply long-term cultural change techniques such as Lean and Six Sigma. Through our experience we have learned that frequently, owners, or investors with their portfolio companies do not have the time or patience needed to achieve long-term cultural change. Fortunately, there are other solutions that are timelier and equally as effective.

MainStream's Performance NOW® offers our clients a cadre of highly skilled and experienced operations managers and executives. Our professionals possess the ability to bring rapid change to organizations whether there is a specific problem to be solved, such as yield recovery or pricing management, or if there is a need to improve the performance of the organization as a whole. MainStream's Performance NOW® is simple, direct, and fast acting, generating results that have an immediate impact for our clients. Our approach is not to spend a long time analyzing problems that we know how to solve. Our bias towards action brings rapid results and creates value for our clients.

Performance NOW® combines the strengths of our suite of advisory offerings and focuses on identifying solutions to operational challenges followed by swift implementation of corrective actions. MainStream's Performance NOW® is unique based on four key characteristics:

Directive Work System Approach

MainStream's Performance NOW® utilizes a directive work system approach, placing emphasis where and when required on 12 key focus areas that are critical components to the success of companies including:

- Customer Connection
- Safety
- Human Resources
- IT Systems
- Quality Programs
- Security
- Environmental Consulting
- Logistics
- Engineering & Maintenance
- Pricing Management
- Supply Chain Management
- Workforce Management

Exemplary Track Record

The second characteristic is our experience in creating value for our clients spanning more than ten years. Through proven leadership, detailed analysis, and a high sense of urgency, MainStream's Performance NOW® program re-energizes organizations and gets them moving in the right direction quickly. We are not consultants in training; we are experienced executive level professionals.

Cost Effective

Our cost structure allows us to provide premier expertise and personalized service. We provide remarkable results at reasonable rates. At MainStream we understand that our objective is to create value and drive results by focusing on specific actions and steps that need to be taken for select clients within targeted industries.

Voice of the Customer

MainStream's Performance NOW® is the direct result of extensive customer feedback on the challenges and frustrations associated with traditional performance improvement programs. We understand that lenders and investors expect to realize timely return on investment, a critical component of Performance NOW®. MainStream's Performance NOW® achieves rapid results, creating immediate value for owners, investors, and shareholders.

How to Contact MainStream Management

If you or your client has interest in MainStream's Performance NOW® please contact Joe Patten at +1 (877) 785.6888 ext: 4101 or Jim Burritt at +1 (877) 785.6888 ext: 4331 for more information.

